The 1st year students of Graphic and Media Technology took part in the international project »GWG video tutorials«, which takes place every year under the auspices of the international graphics association Ghent Workgroup (GWG), as part of the course Graphic Prepress under the mentorship of Prof. Dr. Raša Urbas. Dostopnost

By using various topics from the field of graphic preparation and design, they created interesting, attractive and clearly designed and, above all, informative video tutorials. The students were very creative and innovative in their production.

In designing the video tutorials, the students had to present the selected content in a pictorial and visually meaningful way, also taking into account the specifications of the existing overall graphic image of the GWG association. The latter precisely specifies the selection and use of colours, fonts and other elements of the image. The resulting video tutorials were rendered in English.

The designed video tutorials were part of a related project carried out at the same time by 1st year students of Graphics and Interactive Communication, whose aim was to present the same content in the form of "GWG infographics".
