PDP Conference 2015, scheduled for 3-6 September in Novi Sad, Serbia, is currently accepting applications for three creative contests – one for poster design, spatial design and for photography. PDP is an international creative media conference that contains workshops, exhibitions and series of lectures of reputable authors and experts in different creative fields. The theme of the 7th PDP conference, named LoFiHi, explores the approaches to the creative processes in the conditions of low economic resources. The main goal is to point out the universal weapon- creativity, as the main initiator of every visual creator, regardless the medium and available budget.
