Silk – material and metaphor in the creative process

12. 8. 2025, at 12.35, written by Nina Glavič

The cultural heritage of sericulture and silk production, traditions and customs inspired the students to incorporate natural silk, ignored in the chaos of the modern world, into their artistic creation. In the infinity of the transition from the earthly to the transcendental, the metaphorical nature of silk is stretched between lightness and heaviness, between softness ... Read more

In atrium ego

18. 7. 2025, at 8.30, written by Nina Glavič

socialist realist design of the Nova Gorica City Municipality building, representing a new metropolis built on an ancient necropolis, is stylistically connected to the Mediterranean region. Hidden in its core lies an architectural curiosity – a stone atrium surrounded by a pergola. It is imbued with a classicist idyll, incredible beauty, but within it ... Read more

Rebeka Pajek: The Inbetweens

16. 7. 2025, at 19.00, written by Nina Glavič

The ambient video projection The Inbetweens creates a continuous flow of illustrated figures that appear and disappear, exploring or influencing the viewer's identity, perception and subconscious. The hand-drawn creatures embody fragments of an inner world full of inexplicable disturbances and contradictory states of mind, open to all sorts of interpretations that may reveal more about ... Silk miniatures

15. 7. 2025, at 14.25, written by Nina Glavič

A silent thread of tradition, a captured memory, an almost forgotten landscape. Silk Miniatures is a textile installation that subtly addresses the legacy of the once flourishing silk industry in the Goriško region. A few generations ago, mulberries characterised the landscape and silkworms were part of everyday life, households and the local economy. After the ... Read more
